Reasons for Allowance

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: prior art of record do not teach or suggest the following invention: An inkjet printhead /printhead substrate having a plurality of printing elements, the printhead/substrate comprising: a plurality of switching elements comprising NMOS transistors, being arranged in correspondence with the respective printing elements, wherein the plurality of printing elements and the plurality of switching elements are divided into multiple groups; a first power supply line of a higher voltage and a second power supply line of a lower voltage; a reference voltage circuit configured to generate a reference voltage; a current generation circuit configured to generate a reference current on the basis of the reference voltage generated by said reference voltage circuit; and a plurality of constant current sources, each of which comprises an NMOS transistor and is connected to one of the multiple groups such that each group has a constant current source, configured to supply a constant current to the printing elements in each of the multiple groups, wherein the reference current is directly supplied to the NMOS transistor of each constant current source so as to supply the constant current in accordance with the reference current, wherein each of the plurality of printing elements is directly connected to said first power supply line and each of the constant current sources is directly connected to said second power supply line, and the plurality of constant current sources supply the constant currents via said switching elements, and one of the printing elements, one of said switching elements and one of said constant current sources are connected in series between said first power supply line and said second power supply line, in an order of the one printing element, said one switching element and said one constant current source from said first power supply line to said second power supply line.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
